

FlexShares Morningstar Emerging Markets Factor Tilt Index Fund (TLTE)

FLEXSHARES EXCHANGE TRADED FUNDS

[MUSIC PLAYING]

The FlexShares Morningstar Emerging Markets Factor Tilt Index Fund — or TLTE — seeks to provide exposure to the long-term growth potential that leans toward Emerging Market small cap and value.

The index that the TLTE fund follows is based on a three-step process.

First, start with a broad universe of emerging market stocks that trade on a qualified exchange. Stocks are then defined and divided by current market capitalization and then assigned to their appropriate style categorization.

Each stock is then assigned to one of 12 boxes corresponding to their size and style.

 Large, mid, small and micro capitalization categories & Growth, core and value style categories.*

Morningstar then constitutes the index with an intentional tilt toward small-cap and value stocks.

Investing involves risk including possible loss of principal. FlexShares Morningstar® Emerging Markets Factor Tilt Index Fund (TLTE) is a passively managed fund that invests in foreign and emerging market securities with increased exposure (or a “tilt”) to small-capitalization stocks and value stocks. Foreign and Emerging markets securities may involve certain risks such as currency volatility, political and social instability and reduced market liquidity. Smaller companies may be more volatile than stocks of larger, more established companies. The Fund may also invest in derivative instruments and may be subject to concentration risk of securities in a single industry or group of industries. Please read the Fund's prospectus for specific details regarding the Fund's risk profile.

Carefully consider the Fund's investment objectives, risks, charges, expenses before investing. A prospectus is available at www.flexshares.com; read it carefully before investing.
